KS1 have had a very creative week! They have used their colour mixing skills in art to print different textures that have been used to create their final collage piece. Their final piece is a scene of their choosing, using a mix of their own printing and wallpaper samples. They have also made their own Tudor Houses. They have independently wrapped their boxes in white paper, stuck the boxes together (ensuring that they have a jetty), created wooden beams, and finished them off with doors and windows. We have some very creative children!

5th – 11th February is Children’s Mental Health week. Every year there is a theme, and this year it is ‘Your Voice Matters’. We had lots of activities planned to promote this within school, one of these being an express yourself day. On Thursday, the children were able to dress up however they wished and we also had a post it note wall, where the children could write who they were and what they felt proud to be good at.

This week Dolphin, Orca and Sea Lion classes have been enjoying reading and listening to some poems written by Robert Louis Stevenson. After discussing the structure of the poems, they have written some fantastic ones of their own and have, rightly, been proud of them!

Whenever the sun is drooping down,
Whenever the moon pops up,
When the night begins,
A snake does slithering by.
When the sun is gone and the moon is out,
Why does he slide and slide about?
